Five hundred votes were cast Monday by University students for the 14 candidates who are to have their pictures submitted to a final judge in the Kentucky beauty contest. From these pictures eight are to be selected by a well-known artist or illustrator yet to be selected.

Many incorrect ballots, some of them known to be illegal, were thrown out by the judges who were of the editorial staff of the Kentucky and a faculty representative. It is planned to announce the names of the eight girls, whose pictures will appear in the Kentucky, early in November. The following 14 girls, selected by the poll, had their pictures taken Wednesday:

Newman Club Holds
Annual Election At Its First Meeting

The Newman club of the University held its first meeting of the year last Sunday morning at St. Peter's school on Barr street. About forty members were in attendance.

Harold Fried, the local club's delegate to the International convention of Newman clubs, held in Toronto last August, presided over the meeting and gave a report of the convention proceedings. This report was followed by the annual election of club officers. Those elected were Harold Fried, president; Joe Allen, vice president; Margaret Tracy, secretary, and Lawrence McGinnis, treasurer.

Following the election Miss Margaretie McLaughlin gave a talk on the aims and purposes of the Newman club. This was followed by a discussion of plans and program for the year.

The Newman club is the only Catholic student organization in existence at the University, and all Catholic students are urged to affiliate themselves with the club and to attend the meetings which will be held at St. Peter's school on the second Sunday of each month.

Dr. Thomas Carver
Will Speak at U. K.

Dr. Thomas Nixon Carver, of Harvard University, will speak before a general assembly of students and faculty of the Colleges of Agriculture and Commerce at 11 o'clock this morning in Dicker hall.

Dr. Carver comes to the University, upon the invitation of Dean Thomas Cooper of the College of Agriculture, from Berea where he attended the dedicatory exercises of the new agricultural building on Thursday.

MICHIGAN AUTHORITIES
STUDY LIQUOR PROBLEM

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN — (O. C. N. A.) — The University of Michigan should ask federal aid in abolishing liquor drinking at fraternity houses, President Clarence Cook Little declared in a recent letter to Dean Joseph A. Bursley.

"The student council will support any reasonable action to abolish the drinking, providing each house president be treated alike," a resolution adopted by the council declared.

"We would be willing to join the anti-liquor campaign here, should we be assured that all fraternities would be treated alike," Paul I. Kern, head of the council declared.

The automobile was banned last year and the enforcement proved very unsatisfactory. It is believed that President Little would remove the automobile ban if he felt that liquor had been eliminated.

NOTICE FRESHMEN!

Kampus Kat
Will Scandalize
At Centre Game

The reputations of student leaders and faculty members alike will be blasted; gaudy scandals hitherto screened from the public eye, and crimes of every kind and description on the University campus will be exposed in all their horrid details next Saturday afternoon, Homecoming Day, to all those who purchase a copy of The Kampus Kat.

Reporters and editors of The Kat have been laboring and sleuthing for the past year, and the dirt they have uncovered will be amazing. It is the editorial policy of The Kampus Kat to start seventeen senate investigations with every publication, and the staff feels that it will not fail this time.

The most expert pen-wielders that ever solved a clean yellow page will take the words right out of your mouth and expose the gigantic frauds that have been perpetrated on the student body by the faculty during the past year.

What's wrong with the SuKy circle, the R. O. T. C. unit, the Y. M. C. A., and other business organizations on the campus will be luridly described in the best tabloid manner. What your best friend won't tell you, The Kampus Kat will.

A limited number of Kats are being published, and may be purchased by the early arrivals at the Centre game for 10 cents, free on trains. Thereafter they will be sold at a premium. The Kampus Kat is published at varying intervals by Sigma Delta Chi, Kentucky chapter, national professional journalistic fraternity. The editors have never been kicked out of school. They always leave town the day before The Kat appears.

MEETING AT U. K.

Desha Breckinridge Chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, National Advertising Fraternity, Will Be Hosts to Convention.

Alpha Delta Sigma, national honorary professional advertising fraternity, will hold its national convention in Lexington next fall. It was learned upon the return of James Shropshire, Hugh Ellis, and E. B. Cummins from Champaign, Ill. This year's national convention was held under the auspices of the University of Illinois. Lexington was selected because of its central location and the sight-seeing opportunities afforded the delegates who will attend.

The convention will be held next year under the auspices of the local chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma in McVey hall. About eighty delegates are expected to attend.

This year's convention was attended by twenty-one chapters from various sections of the United States. The delegates arrived on Friday, October 12, and were engaged in a business session Friday morning. Friday night a dinner was served at the Phi Epsilon Pi house, immediately followed by a model initiation. At 9 o'clock the delegates were honored by a dance given at the Beta Theta Pi house. Saturday morning another business session was held. At noon a luncheon was served by Gamma Alpha Chi, honorary woman's advertising sorority. In the afternoon the delegates were guests at the Illinois-Coe football game. The convention closed with a banquet at the Urbana Lincoln hotel Saturday night.

C. N. Fernald was elected president at the session to succeed E. K. Johnson, professor of advertising at Baton Rouge, La. Fernald is at present professor of advertising at Illinois and is president of the Illinois Advertising association. He is also connected with a number of advertising agencies.

Bruce Barton, one of the leading advertising men of the United States, was elected an honorary member of the fraternity. He was the first man to attain this honor. Alpha Delta Sigma has always based its membership on scholarship, ability as an advertising writer, and character.

University Farm
Holds Poultry Day

During the Seventh Annual Poultry Day, held recently at the University farm, and which more than 500 people attended, an organization named the Kentucky Poultry Improvement Association was formed. Representatives from forty counties took part in the program which consisted of an inspection of the farm, speeches and general discussions.

W. E. Pyles, of Maysville, was elected president of the new organization, which was first conceived by Professor Martin, and which has been started for the purpose of raising better poultry throughout Kentucky.

The morning program started with a general inspection after which lunch was held at the judging pavilion. Immediately afterward Dean Cooper delivered a short welcoming address, followed by a talk by Mr. G. S. Vickers, field agent for the Ohio Poultry Improvement Association.

Visitors at the morning inspection of the farm showed much interest in the progressive methods employed there, and everyone expressed a desire to return next year.

SECRET ORGANIZATIONS
MAY BE BANNED AT TEXAS

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS — (O. C. N. A.) An investigation into the secret fraternities of the University of Texas will be made by the board of regents at its meeting October 28, as the result of the death of a student killed at a fraternity initiation last week.

At that time a decision as to whether secret organizations will be allowed to remain on the campus will be made.

The pledge died as the result of an electric shock sustained while crawling over a bed spring charged with electricity, as part of the "rough" social fraternity on the campus.

Horseplay in connection with initiation into Delta Kappa Epsilon, a fraternity into Greek letter societies was condemned in connection with the fatal incident, by Harold Riegelman, chairman of the Interfraternity conference, a group composed of more than 60 of the leading fraternities of the country.

Men's Glee Club
Will Tour During
Christmas Holidays

The Men's Glee club will make a tour of the state during the Christmas holidays this year, according to Professor Lampert, sponsor of the club. The members decided on that time for their annual tour at their weekly meeting held last Monday night. An unusually interesting program is being planned.

The home concert is scheduled for some time before Christmas and work on both programs has already begun. "The Blue Danube Waltz," "A Day in Venice" by Nevin, and "Little Cotton Dolly" by Giebel, a companion piece to "Kentucky Babe," are among the interesting numbers the Glee club plans to give. A group of Schubert's songs will be studied this year as a memorial to that great composer who died in 1892.

Pitkin Members
Meet Wednesday

Only Student Luncheon Club on Campus Is Sponsored by
"Y" Organization

The Pitkin club, only student luncheon club on the University campus, will hold its first meeting of the fall semester Wednesday, October 24, at Maxwell Presbyterian church. Penrose Ecton, president of the club, will preside at the meeting.

The meeting will mark the beginning of the fourth year of the club's existence on the campus. Organized in 1925 with a membership limit of 25 students, it has, because of its popularity, been forced to raise the number to 50 in 1926, and to 75 in 1927, which number is its maximum this year. Since its organization, the club, which has for its aim the discussion and furthering of religious activities on the campus, has had for its leader Dr. A. W. Fortune, pastor of Central Christian church.

The Pitkin club is sponsored by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. in conjunction with the Maxwell street Presbyterian church, of which Dr. Morgan is pastor. Members are without expense since the luncheons are furnished by these groups. New members are selected as vacancies arise by a secret membership committee which passes upon the names presented by the president. Those wishing to become members of the club should give their names to Penrose Ecton. Members of the club are chosen equally from the boys and girls, as well as from the different classes.

Luetta Greeno, vice president, and Joe Rutenen, secretary, are the other officers of the club.

'HAYFEVER' HAS
ELABORATE SETS

Frank C. Fowler Designs Ambitious
Settings for Initial Guignol
Performance of Play on October 29.

One of the most ambitious stage sets of the Little Theater at the University will be a feature of "Hayfever," the initial performance of The Guignol which will open October 29 at the old Roman theater.

The setting, which was designed by Frank C. Fowler, director of The Guignol, and built by Mr. Thomas Lyons, is that of the spacious and charming summer room of a country estate in England. The style is suggestive of Spanish and is beautified by a balcony which opens on a sunken garden. The whole atmosphere is thoroughly modern in keeping with "Hayfever," which is a satiric comedy by Noel Coward in three acts. The cast which has been chosen by Mr. Fowler are especially well adapted to their parts and are working hard to perfect the coming performance.

Miss Cynthia Smith, business manager of The Guignol, is now compiling the list of subscribers for season tickets and announces that it will soon be ready for publication. It is advised that seat reservations be made early as the production promises to play to record crowds throughout its run.

At a meeting last week the executive committee of the theater an official constitution was adopted, setting out the rules and regulations whereby the organization will be conducted. An insignia is also being designed for the theater.

Kentucky Rooters
To See Game by Hook or Crook

(By Beecher Adams)

All hail the Knights of the Road! And to some few unlighted individuals who are in ignorance as to the identity of this organization, let them gather at the railway station and the various highways today and tomorrow to watch the intrepid students (?) of the University do their stuff. For, gentle reader, two clanking bands of Wildcats will meet Saturday in deadly combat on the gridiron at Evanston, and every red-blooded son of Old Kentucky will be on hand to lend his support to his battling comrades.

Probably a hundred will try to "hobo" the band cars. Possibly twenty of these will make it and they will be the heroes. For those fallen by the wayside, God bless 'em, we should cheer just as we do a losing team because they tried and tried hard.

Some will "hitch-hike," much the safer but longer way, and success will crown the efforts of ninety per cent of them if they start in time. Woe to the self-centered motorist who scorns the plea of the lad in the blue sweater this day, for as far as Old State is concerned his name is MUD! But these boys will get there and when the whistle blows on Saturday afternoon will cheer in full force.

Still other "broke" sons of the Bluegrass are oiling the flippers up and will attempt the impossible in them. If any of these ancient carriages make the hazardous non-stop flight to Chicago, our hats go off to them. Due credit will be given them for possessing more nerve than Lindbergh ever dreamed of.

They'll all be there, from the highest Phi Beta Kappa to the lowest unfortunate on probation. They'll be there with bells on, this loyal army of "Tucky's Travellers" and may their Southern yells reverberate across the frigid atmosphere of the Windy City until our Wildcats strike out with terrible talons and peel another scalp to decorate Daddy Boies' hall of victims!

JOURNALISTS TO PLEDGE
AT MRS. McVEY'S TEA

Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalistic fraternity, will hold pledging exercises at Mrs. McVey's tea on Wednesday, October 24. Mrs. McVey has issued a special invitation to Sigma Delta Chi, men's honorary journalistic fraternity, to assist in the entertainment and a cordial welcome will be extended to all University students attending.

Powerful Northwestern Eleven
Is Host to Gamagemen at Windy City

GAME IS TOUGHEST
ON 'CAT SCHEDULE

Record Crowd Is Expected to Witness Only Grid Battle
in Chicago Saturday

(By Wayman Thomasson)

Coach Harry Gamage is musing his Kentucky team along that long trail which leads into the frozen North. Tonight, under the northern lights, his 'Cats will be encamped at the Edgewater Beach hotel as cold winds whistle around the corners, tolling the knell of the Northwestern Wildcats at Dwyer stadium, Chicago. Tomorrow Wildcat will meet Wildcat, the purple against the blue, Coach Dick Hanley versus Harry Gamage. Kentucky's wonder band, lake breezes, machine guns, stockyards, 70,000 people, and a game.

This provides for everything but a gang war and that is one thing I'm not going to investigate. "Anyway, football is more in my line," said Coach Gamage as Washington and Lee was thrown for another loss. "Coach Dick Hanley," expositulates Walter Eckersall in the Chicago Tribune, "favors an open style of attack which he has built around Walter Holmer, Northwestern captain and fullback." Eckersall continues, "If Coach Hanley can develop a line which gives Holmer the necessary protection, Northwestern should gain by the use of the forward pass." This line is no longer a problem. Ohio State penetrated the purple line to the 20 yard line only once last Saturday and beat Northwestern by a lucky break—a fumble which was scooped up and carried to a touchdown. The Buckeyes made just three first downs and the Northwestern line proved itself worthy of the four great backs who were expected to stun the Western Conference this season.

Those backs are Levison, Holmer, Bruder and Calderwood. Lee Hanley, the coach's nephew, is also a good back, but he was injured in the Ohio game and it is doubtful if he will be able to play. Especially is this true on account of the fact that the Purple plays Illinois next Saturday in one of the most important games of the Western Conference. Northwestern's backfield outweighs Kentucky's by about 20 pounds to the man and has an enormous driving power. And to make things even more interesting, the Northwestern line is just as big and just as good as Kentucky's. Therefore, it looks like Kentucky is going to have to go over or around this team to get anywhere. Coach Gamage has been brushing up his pass formations and is expecting to score by this route Saturday.

The squad left Lexington Thursday night and arrived in Chicago this morning. The same team which started against Washington and Lee, with one exception, will probably play again Saturday. Will Ed Covington is nursing an injured leg. It is likely he will be replaced by Elmer Gilb, in which case Portwood will be shifted to Covington's position and Gilb will assume Portwood's former duties as plunging back. Be sure and tune in on the radio program Saturday evening.

Chicago Clothier
To Entertain 'Cats

In a letter to Mr. D. H. Williamson of the Graves, Cox and company, of Lexington, Mr. O. S. McCoslin, of the B. Kuppenheimer and company of Chicago, said that as a result of a letter received from Mr. Williamson giving full details regarding the visit of the Kentucky football team to Chicago, October 20, he has made complete arrangements for entertaining the team.

A reservation has been made for two buses to transfer the team from the depot to the hotel, and to take them sightseeing along the north shore after breakfast.

A reservation has also been made for their luncheon in one of the private dining rooms of the Orrington hotel.

R. O. T. C. COMPANIES WILL HAVE SUBSTITUTE SPONSORS

These substitutions are temporary until the election which will be held the second semester.

ON TO CHICAGO

"On to Chicago" has become the battle cry around the University campus and the city of Lexington since last Saturday when the followers of the Blue and White were served the most delicious dish of football offered on Stoll field for many a year. The enthusiasm that followed the defeat of the worthy Generals of Washington and Lee at the hands of the hard-fighting Wildcats, was so pronounced that one might have been led to believe that every one was completely satisfied. But with the beginning of the new week the team, students, Alumni and followers of the Wildcats already have become hungry for some of the same dish, but served this time in Chicago.

At the Chicago end of the line nothing has been left undone to make the record crowd of Kentuckians who will follow the Wildcats to the "Windy City" Saturday. They have made arrangements with the management of the Edgewater Beach hotel to make that hostelry Kentucky headquarters on the day of the game. The management has set aside a number of rooms that are to be used exclusively by Alumni, students, and friends of the University.

In the evening the Chicago Alumni club and the Kentucky club of Chicago will be hosts at a dinner-dance at which every person from the University will be guests. The team and the band, of course, will be guests of honor. While both clubs would like to entertain everyone from Kentucky, they find that it will take more finances than they have available so they are limiting themselves to the students, the team, the band, and faculty.

All Alumni and friends, however, who are in Chicago are cordially invited to attend the dinner provided they pay the cover charge which will not be large. Indications so far point to a record-breaking crowd from Kentucky to the game.

On to Chicago! Let's go.

DON'T FORGET HOMECOMING

Again we call your attention to the annual homecoming game. This will be October 27 when the Wildcats will again defeat the Centre on our own field for a great many years. None of you will want to miss this. Remember this will be the first time that we have defeated Centre on our own field for a great many years. None of you will want to miss this. You had better get your tickets early.

THEFT

We are of the opinion that there has never been a publication issued since the very first that has not contained, at some time or other, some material stolen from a contemporary. So far we have not been guilty of any journalistic theft, but in order that we may not be too perfect, we have turned thief this week and are printing below a little piece of poetry that we have stolen.

However, we will be honest and tell you where it came from. It is cut bodily from the pages of the Ohio State University Monthly, the Alumni publication of that university. It was written by "Doc" Tietze, who is Alumni News editor of that publication. We have substituted the name Kentucky for Buckeye to make it more applicable to our needs. So excellent is this bit of verse, and so well does it apply to our needs in this office that we could not resist this one small theft. Here it is:

Have you a bit of news?
Then send it in!
Or a tale that will amuse?
Then send it in!
Take this writing as a cue,
Don't await an interview,
We want to hear from YOU,
So send it in!

P. S.—
We don't care about the style,
Any Kentucky news's worth while,
(Bet we'll greet it with a smile!)
Come! Send it in!

She is now advertising fashion writer for that company. She is well adapted to that work, having been engaged in advertising work in Lexington since being graduated from the University.

While in the University she was active in journalistic work and was society editor and feature writer on the staff of The Kernel for several years. After leaving the University she was employed by Wolf, Wile and company in Lexington. For them she was special feature writer and worked with the advertising department. She also inaugurated a weekly feature which appeared in the Sunday issue of the Lexington Herald. This was along advertising lines and was called "Helen Goes a-Shopping." This feature, which was a novelty worked up by her, received favorable comment wherever it was seen by advertising specialists.

Later she became a regular member of the advertising staff of the Lexington Herald and had become quite valuable to that newspaper when she resigned to take her new position in Cincinnati.

Miss King is a talented writer and with her new work larger fields of advertising will be opened to her. Her ability along this line is marked and she should go far in her field.

THEIR JUST DESERTS

The two students who rushed the Ben Ali and Strand theaters Saturday night following the Washington and Lee and University football game, got precisely what they deserved when they were fined five dollars each in the police court Monday afternoon.

One wonders where they and the others who attempted to break into the show houses Saturday night gained the idea that they were privileged to rush madly into a theater, utter a series of yells and dash madly out again, disturbing the people who had paid admission to be entertained. Certainly they must have a very exalted opinion of themselves to assume that their presence would cause joy on the part of the audience. At least we assume the foregoing to be the reason for their demonstration.

On second thought, it might have been done merely to impress on the Lexington police force that students were to be given their way in such matters. The Kernel is well aware of the fact that students had been duly warned beforehand of the consequences of such procedure. If they rushed the theaters with this idea in mind then their ludicrous failure is laughable indeed. Picture them all mock-heroic before the impressive array of brass buttons. And, though participants in the rushing disclaim such an intention, we have a sneaking suspicion that they desired to witness a free show. It is lamentable that so worthy a desire could not have been attained!

As to just who composed this sublimated body of joy-mad youths, well, it is not a question to ponder over. There was undoubtedly a majority of freshmen in the body and perhaps a sprinkling of sophomores, together with quite a number of down-town loafers. We doubt greatly if a junior or senior could have been found in the entire rushing party.

Freshmen are noted for their freshness and sophomores for their foolishness, but in this instance the matter seems to be reversed. At any rate it was a matter of surprise to see on the campus signs calculated to injure the business of the Strand and Ben Ali theaters, as if they were dependent on the support of the freshmen class. Anyway there is not a freshman among you who has the will power to miss a movie he desires to see.

Lastly, that another little matter may be corrected, The Kernel would assure students that both theaters have cooperated with them in every reasonable request that has been made. The SuKy circle has made a great deal of money simply because Lexington theaters are willing to give them part of the proceeds taken in at "pep" meetings held in their houses.

The Kernel does not enjoy printing editorials which leave to readers outside the University campus the impression that the student body is composed of a gang of rowdy rah-rah boys.

Remember, you are students of the University of Kentucky. As a consequence you have some pretense to the title of gentleman.

THE UNIVERSITY BAND

The University of Kentucky band has shared equal honors with the University of Kentucky football team in many of its appearances. This year with a team on the field such as that which Coach Harry Gamage sent to meet Washington and Lee in the triumph of last Saturday, it is not inappropriate for The Herald to say concerning the team those things which during the time of a losing team might be misunderstood as casting reflection upon the Wildcats.

The band unquestionably is able to stimulate better effort upon the playing field by the football team but in itself the band is a splendid representative of the University of Kentucky.

The reputation that it has gained of being "the best band in Dixie" is fully sustained this year. The band has won favorable comment everywhere that it has gone with the team. The appeal which is being made to the people of Lexington to lend their support in sending the band on the trip for the Northwestern game is fully justified and it is hoped that it will meet with the fullest response.—Lexington Herald.

LEST WE FORGET

President McVey said, in an address before the student body at the opening convocation of the year: "Students, to be successful, must learn to distinguish between 'present' and 'future' wants."

That statement was very much to the point. But to be effective, it must be kept in the mind of the student body. One way to do so is not to let enthusiasm run away with common sense. The thrills of football, convenience in cutting classes, lazy autumn days, and various present wants are now in force. One must remember that the end of the semester will bring a want which is greater than anything we desire at present. It will be a standing high enough to average C or better. If it is not attained, to what avail will be the wants of the present?

A standing is a "future" want. It is one that means more to the student than all the games or all the thrills now to be had. Which will the average student choose, the present or the future? In one sense of the word, he or she cannot select both. Now is the time to choose, and let the choice be a "future" want, or the University will have a port of missing men next year.

JUST KINDA GRIN

Last Saturday Kentucky's gridiron army fired an eleven-gun salvo at the Washington and Lee Generals, and when the smoke had cleared the Bonnie Blue and White flag floated on the crest of Southern football.

As usual, the world-at-large thought that Kentucky didn't have a chance. Even yet they do not realize the significance of Kentucky's victory, a victory made the sweeter by its 29-year delay.

Kentucky has a TEAM. It's a tough one, a heavy one, a fast one, and a smart one. Kentucky has a coach, and he's all of that, too.

The Kernel believes that more highly-touted Southern eleven than the Generals will be dimly surprised with a defeat at the hands of Kentucky before the season ends.

The Kernel believes that the Wildcats will conquer Northwestern tomorrow.

The Kernel believes that when the game ends tomorrow afternoon, and the thousands file their way from the Northwestern stadium, that in the minds of all will be firmly impressed the fact that "Kentucky's Right!"

And Northwestern's exhausted Wildcats will just kinda grin, because they'll see we got 'em.

CONSIDER YOUR ADVICE

One of the professors recently made the statement to his class that he would give a great deal had he taken Greek when he was in school; he said that he entered college with the intention of making it his minor, until a number of horrified upperclassmen had discovered the fact and persuaded him to change his course and take something easier.

This habit of older students interfering with freshmen's courses is a discreditable one, and one that often causes regret in later life. Many a cheerful soul has entered the university with the best intentions of taking really worthwhile subjects—Latin, mathematics, chemistry—only to be discouraged and talked into enrolling in lighter work.

The upperclassmen have good intentions most of the time; they are looking out for the grade advantage of their fraternity, or perhaps hate to see the freshman make a low grade in a course. Their error is in placing the grade above the value received from one's work. It is better to make a barely passing grade in a subject from which the student has gained at least a foundation of something worthwhile, than to get an "A" in a snap course.

New students in the university should be allowed to use their own judgment in picking out what they want to study. The efforts of the upperclassmen should be devoted to helping the freshmen learn something in college that will be of use to them after they graduate, instead of fostering the impression that the collegiate way is to get by as easily as possible.—Oklahoma Daily.

(MELVINA HEAVENRIDGE, Editor)

BLACK HATE

This awful hate comes surging o'er me now,
Sweeping heavy fingers across my brow
With bitter touch.

God, have you asked this thing of me,
I should forgive and calmly see
The other side?

Then shall I strive to tear away
This hate. Not for naught you say,
"Be merciful."
—MARGARET CUNDIFF.

AWAKENING

Now that it is all over and done with—
All the laughter and youth and goldenness,
All the swift eating of miles under white stars
And the mad, joyous peril of kisses.
My heart is a barren desert—
Bleak with the uselessness of things
And the horror of finality.
—MARJORY GOULD.

LOVERS

He: Don't be afraid, there's nothing to fear.
She: I wish I'd worn my other coat.
He: Let's move to where we can see the moon.
She: I thought you said—
He: Is it not beautiful?
She: It's rather chilly here.
He: I read a poem today.
She: I hate poems.
He: About a lover who thought and thought.
She: You are my lover.
He: And was so busy thinking—
She: Was he thinking about his girl?
He: He did not see the moon above him.
She: The moon is behind a cloud now.
He: This lover was no lover at all.
She: Do you not love me?
He: I worship you even as the stars and moon.
She: They are so far away.
He: But near to my heart.
She: I wish I were a man.
He: But you are a woman.
She: I'd show men how to love.

Music, Stage and Screen

By Thomas L. Riley

Perhaps the most outstanding theatrical event of the week will take place at midnight Saturday at the Kentucky theater when the Lexington premiere of Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool" is shown. This showing is marked by two characteristics, the novelty of the situation and the fact that the picture itself is good. No doubt the special showing will be well attended.

When Al Jolson made "The Jazz Singer" we gave up all hopes for him as a motion picture actor. His voice, together with the story in that picture put it over. In "The Singing Fool," however, an element appears that was sadly lacking in Jolson's first production. This quality is the personality of the star that almost makes the picture equal some of his leading stage attractions in entertaining value. Whereas "Mammy" was the only thing to be remembered from "The Jazz Singer," Jolson's acting holds the chief interest in this picture. Of course it is an all Vitaphone production, but many of the crudities of former efforts have been smoothed over, so that Jolson is able to hold full sway in his own inimitable style. We heartily recommend "The Singing Fool" as good entertainment.

The two most important members of the cast supporting Jolson are Betty Bronson and Josephine Dunn, both of whom are quite satisfactory in their roles. "The Singing Fool" was directed by Lloyd Bacon and will run for the entire week.

"The River Pirate" at Strand Sunday
Victor MacLaglen has steadily risen at the box office after his sterling performance of Captain Flagg in the motion picture version of "What Price Glory." Since that time he has been promoted to a star of his own right and is now regarded by us as the most unusual headliner on the screen. His latest picture, "The River Pirate," comes to the Strand theater Sunday for a four-day run. The leading role, played by MacLaglen, is one that is ideally suited to his talents. The theme of the picture has to do with modern pirates who ply the coasts of North America, who plunder merchant ships for loot. MacLaglen is well supported in the cast by such capable actors as Nick Stuart, of "High School Hero" fame; Lois Moran, best known for "The Music Master;" Earle Foxe, of countless villain roles, and Donald Crisp, a fine actor as well as a director of note. "The River Pirate" was directed by William K. Howard, who did such splendid directorial work on "White Gold" some time ago. For sheer admiration of a fine actor, movie goers will delight in "The River Pirate."

Stock Company Gives Good Play
"Her Unborn Child," the current attraction at the opera house is a good play done in extraordinary manner. "Her Unborn Child," a more serious drama that is customary for the stock company to play, has proved that the actors are capable of "heavier" plays than they have been offering the public.

It was with much surprise to the reviewer to note that about 75 per cent of the entire audience was moved to tears throughout the larger part of the third act. This alone should convince the public that the play was "well done."

Mr. Wally Griggs adds a bit of humor to the play in some of the touching scenes. He takes his part in his usual fine manner.

Mr. Stanley Price, as Jack Conover, and Miss Frances Severens, as Doris Kennedy, present remarkable performances under trying conditions which are included in their parts.

Miss Dorothy Day, as "Peggy" Kennedy, gives an excellent performance. She is well suited for her part.

WILDCATS OUTSMART GENERALS TO WIN 6-0

Dysard Stars as Reserves Beat Lindsey-Wilson, 18-2

In celebrating the Wildcat's fine victory over Washington and Lee, together with the excellent showing made by the Kittens in defeating the Georgetown freshmen, the student body has overlooked the 18-2 victory of the Reserve team which defeated Lindsey-Wilson Junior college Friday afternoon at Columbia, Ky.

Lindsey-Wilson presented a well-coached eleven which fought the Reserves to a standstill and led at the half, 2-0, by virtue of a safety scored as the result of a bad pass by Hayn, Reserve center. The second half, however, saw the Reserves come to the front as they pushed over three touchdowns on straight football. McLenore at fullback and Dysard at quarter were the outstanding backs in these drives to the goal. Defensively Abbot at end and Irving and Idleman at tackles looked good, Idleman being especially powerful and as a result was working Monday on the varsity squad.

Saturday, October 20, the Reserves will meet the Morehead Normal varsity at Morehead, Ky. Morehead has scored wins over Morris-Harvey and Marshall college, but has bowed to Cincy and St. X by a score of 45-0, all of which proves nothing at all and the game Saturday should be a toss-up.

The Kentucky Reserves will line up with several changes over last week. Abbot and Cavanaugh will work at ends. Idleman may go to Northwestern, leaving a tackle position open, with a successor unknown. Irving will retain his place at the other tackle and Campbell will hold down one guard position. Trott has reported for basketball practice and a running mate for Campbell will have to be picked. Lewis will probably start at center. There are no changes in the backfield which will include Brown and Collins, halfbacks, Dysard at quarter, and McLenore at fullback.

The Sportgraph

(By WAYMAN THOMASSON)

THE HONOR MAN

To Bullus H. Brown, one of a number of heroes who set their backs to the wall Saturday and repulsed the attack of the Washington and Lee Generals. Playing the entire game with a cut on his lip which later required five stitches for treatment, and which was bleeding profusely during the matinee performance, Mr. Brown deserves all the praise in the world for his "guts to come back."

THE FORM SHEET

There are other kinds of form sheets than those which dilate your eye-balls and singe your eye-brows on the front page of "Snappy Stories." For instance, you get a lot of "sure things" out of the "pony" form sheet. Sometimes the kampos kuties even run true to form (huh?) but, at that, they are more uncertain than the races. Anyway, form is to athletics as silence is to Coolidge, and that means everything. Coach Gamage made his Wildcats wild last week from noontide to sunset, preparing a defense for Mr. Washington and Colonel Lee. The 'Cats practiced breaking up General plays so long they were almost crazy enough to vote for Hoover. They could break them up in their sleep, and Saturday, they did for the first time in 29 years. That is the way form is acquired—by hard work, smart observation, and strenuous training. Form makes champions or Gene Tunney would still be "shave-tailing" in the marines.

GILB GOES OVER FOR TOUCH-DOWN

By Bill Reep

They came. We met. We conquered! The score was 6 to 0, ladies and gentlemen. Thus the above sums up briefly the score only, of one of the greatest and most thrilling football games that was ever played on Stoll field, when last Saturday the Wildcats turned back the invasion of the highly-touted Generals from Washington and Lee.

The game itself was thrilling, but then again it was not quite as thrilling to some of the strangers in the stands as it was to the people of Kentucky, especially when it was the Kentuckians who realized the handicap under which the Wildcats were fighting. That was, chiefly, to break the jinx that the Generals held over Kentucky for a period of 29 years.

Kentucky's Day

At the very start of the game when the Generals kicked off to Kentucky, it was evident that this was Kentucky's day, and that the Wildcats' gallant efforts of the past six weeks would be justly rewarded. The battle cry of "Beat W. and L. gang," that rang out over the practice all last week, was taking its toll on the visitors and through three quarters of the game the Generals had their backs to the wall fighting hard to stave off the terrific rushes of the 'Cats.

When time was called to start the second half, Forquer of Kentucky kicked off to the Generals on the 20 yard line where they advanced the ball to the 25 marker. On the next play the Generals tried a reverse double pass in which they became confused and the 'Cat forward wall charged like a tractor through the line and Bull Brown and "Floppy" Forquer hit the ball carrier so hard that he dropped the pigskin which was recovered by McElroy for Kentucky.

It was then that the home boys came to life and after coming out of a huddle where the strategy for the next play was planned, little Alf Portwood took the ball through right tackle for 22 yards, diving over two Generals, landing on his head and coming up again for another three feet toward the goal line before an avalanche of Generals pinned him to the ground. That put the ball on the 13 yard line with four downs to go.

Four tries at the line netted another first down and left them three yards from the goal and a touchdown with four more chances in which to succeed. On the first play Gilb took the ball and, with his feet working like pistons, he hit the right side of the line where he wiggled, squirmed, and twisted in a way that is all his own, he crossed the last coveted chalk mark for a touchdown.

The touchdown was the crisis of the game, because from then on those Wildcats just couldn't be beaten. We will give those Generals from Virginia due credit for fighting clean and hard all the time and in the last quarter they opened up with a deadly passing attack which almost resulted in a score.

BASKETBALL TEAM TO HAVE HARD SCHEDULE

The first practice of candidates for the varsity basketball squad was held in the Men's gymnasium on Monday afternoon. Coach Johnny Mauer was somewhat disappointed with the turnout as the initial session found but fifteen men in uniform.

The Wildcat basketball team will face one of the most difficult schedules during the coming season that has ever been carded for a Kentucky team. The completed schedule will probably contain fifteen or sixteen games and will include contests with some of the best teams in this section of the country. The 'Cats will open their season with a home game on December 15, against the Eastern Normal quintet.

Coach Mauer desires all men who can come out for the squad immediately as the team which faces Eastern Normal and Miami which is scheduled for the following week, will be chosen from the men who are present at the early practice periods. Additional strength will be gained at the close of the football season when some of the gridiron stars will doff their moleskins and don the abbreviated uniforms. Among these men are Miller, Owens, Dees, Gilb, Johnson, Spicer, and Bronston.

SECOND ROUND IN TOURNAMENT PLAYED

The intra-mural tennis tournament swung inauspiciously into the second round last Monday. Sixty-six survivors of the first round singles contest and sixteen doubles teams were carded to continue play that will again reduce by half the number of contestants.

The tourney this year started off with a bang, drawing 144 singles entries and nearly sixty doubles teams, which is the high water mark in this form of competition. Probably, because of the fact that the matches are being counted on a point basis toward awarding the participation trophy, the number of forfeits in the first round matches was relatively small. Those contestants appeared on the scene were simply dropped without the loss of points as in the case of forfeits.

After the first two weeks of competition, the S. A. E. fraternity continued to lead all others in the number of entries, having 13 netmen yet in the running; Sigma Chi and Alpha Sigma Phi are next in line with six each; Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma, and Pi Kappa Alpha have five representatives each; The Sigma Nus and Phi Deltas have four; Phi Sigma Kappa, three; Triangles, two, and Phi Tau, Sigma Beta Xi, and Alpha Gamma Epsilon, one each.

FRESHMEN EASILY DEFEAT CUBS, 33-6

Big Green Backfield Exhibits Form in First Schedule Contest; Wright and Kistner Star in Kitten Line.

The University freshmen defeated the Georgetown Cubs last Friday for the first time in several years. The score, 33-6, does not show the complete mastery the Kittens held as they were unable to function offensively against the Cubs in the first half.

Once under way the "Big Green" offense showed to better advantage than any of the Kitten teams of the past. Phipps, German, and Yates were able to gain consistently through the line and around the ends and, in the second half, several beautiful passes were completed. German to Thompson. The line opened holes in the right places and the whole team seemed to adapt itself to the Gamage style of play.

New York,

Larus & Bro. Co.,

Gentlemen:
I have used Edgeworth Smoking Tobacco for the past twenty-five years. Two years ago I took my trusty briar along on a trip abroad, intending to revel in the delights of the famous mixtures in London. I confess that I did not carry along with me any of the little blue tins of Edgeworth. But the joke was on me. I went back to Edgeworth, only this time I had to pay 45c for a 15c tin of Edgeworth!

Incidentally, on a trip through England and later through Ireland, I was surprised to find the wide distribution and ready sale of Edgeworth in Great Britain. A frequent and familiar sign in Dublin, Cork and other cities in Ireland was a white streamer announcing a new shipment of Edgeworth. To make such a conquest in the home of smoking tobacco must be very gratifying to your house.

Sincerely,

Louisiana State Has Motion Pictures For U. S. History Courses

The showing of a series of motion picture films, the first to be given in Garig hall in a week or ten days, will be an innovation in the American history courses offered at Louisiana State university.

The films are produced by the Yale University Press Film Service with the co-operation of a number of leading historians, in order that the pictures shall be historically correct and depict the habits, customs, costumes, manners, and important events of the periods of American history which they portray, according to Dr. W. H. Stephenson, associate professor of history at L. S. U. Each of the films is based upon a volume of The Chronicles of America, a series of histories edited by Allen Johnson of Yale university. The films will be brought to the university through the cooperation of the extension division and the department of history.

Among the pictures which will probably be shown are: Jamestown, Virginia; The Pilgrim Fathers, Daniel Boone, The Declaration of Independence, The Frontier Woman, and Dixie During the Civil War. The first film to be shown will be Jamestown, adapted from Pioneers of the Old South, a chronicle written by Mary Johnston.

Colgate Cheaters Are Below Average

COLGATE UNIVERSITY — (O. C. N. A.)—A study of thirty successful cribbers and cheaters during examinations at Colgate university by Herbert C. Brownell has resulted in his labeling them "a psychological type contrasted with the student body."

Information about the thirty was obtained unknown to them and by unofficial and underground methods. Mr. Brownell says, and they were used as laboratory specimens to show the mental and emotional traits of college students who cheat at examinations and get by with it. None of the thirty cheaters were officially caught even though Colgate has a severe proctoring system.

More than half of the group fell below the campus average in intelligence and the majority belonged to the psychological type known as extroverts, another name for a "good boy" and one more inclined to activity than thinking. Eighty per cent were more emotionally unstable than the campus average.

FENCING TEAM MAKES PLANS FOR PRACTICES

Last Monday afternoon seven men reported for try-outs for the fencing team which was organized recently, and plans were made to procure a coach and equipment. Russell Ake, who was a member of the team at Ohio Wesleyan, explained the thrust and stance, and also gave some preliminary instructions on practice. The next regular meeting of the team will be held Monday afternoon in the Armory and practices may be held any afternoon the Armory is not in use.
